

Kay identified two main mitigation strategies available to health care:

1. To use our influence in society, purchasing power etc as an agent for change.
2. To be an example of what can be achieved by reducing our carbon footprint to net zero in line with the NHS recent commitment.

We need to educate ourselves, our tutors and our students about how we can reduce the carbon